

Password: FIVE in honor of the star in our flag.

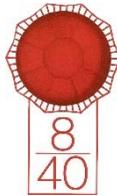

Challenge Word: "Who goes there?"

The reply: "Angels in white and red"

Sign of distress: Five fingers of left hand spread out at shoulder height with palm outward.

Handclasp: Given in usual way except the forefinger rests on the pulse of the hand clasped.

Card for the current year must be presented to obtain admission to a Marche.

Password: FIVE in honor of the star in our flag.

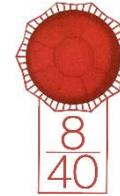

Challenge Word: "Who goes there?"

The reply: "Angels in white and red"

Sign of distress: Five fingers of left hand spread out at shoulder height with palm outward.

Handclasp: Given in usual way except the forefinger rests on the pulse of the hand clasped.

Card for the current year must be presented to obtain admission to a Marche.

Password: FIVE in honor of the star in our flag.

Challenge Word: "Who goes there?"

The reply: "Angels in white and red"

Sign of distress: Five fingers of left hand spread out at shoulder height with palm outward.

Handclasp: Given in usual way except the forefinger rests on the pulse of the hand clasped.

Card for the current year must be presented to obtain admission to a Marche.

Password: FIVE in honor of the star in our flag.

Challenge Word: "Who goes there?"

The reply: "Angels in white and red"

Sign of distress: Five fingers of left hand spread out at shoulder height with palm outward.

Handclasp: Given in usual way except the forefinger rests on the pulse of the hand clasped.

Card for the current year must be presented to obtain admission to a Marche.